Witness Nature's Symphony

As the rain cascades down, it creates a symphony of soothing sounds. The droplets gently tap on the leaves, creating a melodic rhythm that resonates throughout the park. The sound of raindrops dancing on the water bodies, such as the serene Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis Reservoir or the enchanting Bethesda Terrace Fountain, adds an extra touch of tranquility to this already peaceful setting.

Walking along the park's winding pathways, you will have the chance to witness nature's spectacle of raindrops delicately kissing the colorful flowers and gracefully sliding down the trees. The rain brings out the vibrant hues of the flowers, creating a stunning palette of colors that will leave you in awe.

Revel in the Peaceful Ambience

When it rains in Central Park, the crowds dissipate, leaving behind a serene and peaceful atmosphere. The park becomes a sanctuary for those seeking solitude and introspection. Whether you choose to take a leisurely stroll or find a cozy spot under a sheltering tree, you will feel a sense of calmness wash over you as you take in the beauty of nature in its rain-kissed form.

With fewer people around, you will have the opportunity to connect more closely with the park's wildlife. From the chirping of birds seeking shelter to the squirrels playfully hopping from one tree to another, the park comes alive in a whole new way during rainfall.

Embrace the Enchanting Sights

Central Park holds numerous hidden gems that become even more enchanting when the rain arrives. The iconic Bow Bridge, with its elegant arch and surrounding foliage, transforms into a scene straight out of a fairytale. The Strawberry Fields Memorial, dedicated to the legendary John Lennon, takes on a poetic charm as raindrops create ripples on the Imagine mosaic.

The Mall, lined with towering American elm trees, casts a surreal and ethereal atmosphere when shrouded in rain. Walking down this historic pathway, you may feel as if you have stepped into another world, a world full of hidden wonders just waiting to be discovered.

Capture Memories in Time

With a camera in hand, exploring Central Park in the rain becomes a photography enthusiast's dream. The glistening raindrops on the leaves, the reflections on the water bodies, and the misty ambiance create a perfect backdrop for capturing unique and unforgettable moments. The rain adds an element of drama and mystique to your photographs, allowing you to create stunning images that will transport you back to that very moment in time.

No matter the angle or the subject, every corner of Central Park holds a captivating story to tell when the rain sprinkles its magic. So make sure to bring your camera and let your creativity flow as you capture the essence of Central Park in its rain-enhanced allure.

Next time it rains, don't hide away indoors. Embrace the opportunity to experience Central Park's captivating transformation. Whether you choose to wander amidst the lush greenery, seek shelter under towering trees, or simply stand in awe of the rain-soaked beauty before you, you will be rewarded with a truly magical experience. LYRIC SHEET

Verse 1

The drops of rain, the drops of tears;

Both fall down my face.

Can't stand that you're not here.

All alone in a small café;

Knowin' that my love has gone,

Knowin' he won't stay...

Chorus

As it rains in Central Park;

The sound of broken dreams,

The sound of broken hearts.

I watch the rain in Central Park

And try to figure out what tore us apart.

Verse 2

What happened to the man I thought I knew?

Was it something that I said? Tell me, what did I do?

Breakaway/Bridge

A lonely bird flies to the sky.

I hear your voice cry through the night,

I hear you now in broad daylight.

I watch the New York gloom and long for you.

The biggest thing I miss is your sweet kiss.

CHORUS x 2

I hear the rain...
