Dogs of Delhi: A photographic journey of must love metropolitan mutts is a celebration of the stray dogs of India's vibrant capital city.

With over 325,000 street dogs in Delhi alone, we have selected 50 of the best most vibrant pups to include within this picture book. These marvelous mutts don't always get very good press, though, and are often portrayed as either villains who bite and maul, or victims of human cruelty. But we found a large dog population which lives happily in the city, often developing close relationships with humans. Some develop quirky habits such as specific diets, others roam open markets where they put on extraordinary amounts of weight and sleep their days away.
