

The Tenth: A Riveting Historical Fiction Adventure by the Author of Marching With Caesar

Are you a history enthusiast looking for a thrilling journey back in time? Look no further than "The Tenth," an epic historical fiction novel penned by the same brilliant author who brought you the acclaimed series "Marching With Caesar." With its meticulously researched content, engaging storyline, and captivating characters, this book will transport you to the heart of ancient Rome and leave you yearning for more.

Unveiling The Tenth

"The Tenth" takes its readers on a captivating adventure, set against the backdrop of a crumbling Roman Empire. This mesmerizing tale follows the exploits of Lucius Oppius Maximus, a young legionary serving in Rome's famed Tenth Legion. As a member of this renowned military unit, Lucius finds himself thrust into a world fraught with danger, honor, and loyalty.

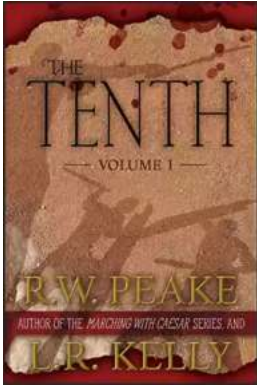

Through Lucius' eyes, author R.W. Peake brilliantly portrays the grueling life of a legionary, the camaraderie that develops among soldiers, and the relentless battles fought on the empire's frontiers. Drawing on years of painstaking research, Peake masterfully weaves together historical accuracy and fictional narrative to create a vivid and authentic portrayal of ancient Rome.

From the creator of the Marching With Caesar series comes The Tenth-Volume I, the story of the men who stood with Titus Pullus and his childhood friend Vibius Domitius through a period that saw the most intense period of combat in Roman history. From the slums of Corduba and Nova Carthago, the farms of Hispania, and even the city of Rome, eight young men enlist in the new Xth Legion along with Titus Pullus and Vibius Domitius, raised by the new governor of Hispania, Gaius Julius Caesar.

Each of them have their own motivation for joining, their own secrets to keep from their new comrades...and their own goals and ambitions that will create rivalries and disputes that will challenge the bonds formed over the course of their time under the standard. This disparate yet complementary group will become the Tenth Section of the First Century of the Second Cohort that readers were first introduced to in Marching With Caesar.

Thrown together, they will be subjected to the harshest training regimen in the ancient world, and in this crucible, they will be transformed from ten individuals into one tent section, the smallest subunit of the Roman Legion, before being thrown almost immediately into combat as Caesar leads his newly formed Legion in a campaign against rebelling tribes.

The Tenth-Volume I tells the unique and individual stories of their enlistment, training, and their to the other men who will become a “band of brothers” that fighting men of any age would recognize and relate to
