The Whispers of Nemesis is the fifth in Anne Zouroudi's unique series of award-winning mysteries, where mythology meets murder in the timeless landscapes of almost-contemporary Greece.

As winter snows fall in the high Greek mountains, an unearthed coffin is broken open, revealing some unexpected remains to the astonished mourners gathered at the cemetery. In the tiny village of Vrissi, gossip flows like ouzo, and the discovery in the grave sets tongues wagging and heads shaking. Then a body is found buried beneath the snow, and it seems the truth behind both corpse and coffin may be far stranger than the villagers' wildest imaginings.

Drawn to the mountains by an affair of the heart, enigmatic investigator Hermes Diaktoros finds himself embroiled in the village's mysteries, as well as the cryptic last will and testament of Greece's most admired modern poet. The Whispers of Nemesis is a story of desperate measures and dark secrets, of murder and immortality, and of pride coming before the steepest of falls.

Readers of Andrea Camilleri, Donna Leon, Alexander McCall-Smith and Neil Gaiman's American Gods will love the mysterious, mythic Greek detective Hermes Diaktoros, described by The Guardian as '...half Poirot, half deus ex machina'.

Anne Zouroudi is a past winner of the Coventry Book Award and has been shortlisted for the ITV3 Crime Thriller Awards and the Desmond Elliott Prize.

'I can't get enough of Anne Zouroudi's dapper and enigmatic Greek detective Hermes Diaktoros' - The Australian 'Diaktoros is a delight.
