This book is the transcription of Knowledge Seeker Workshop 74 and an interview of Mr. Keshe by Mike Harris of VT radio – both recorded on the same day, August 13th 2015. This workshop is one of our favourites and the longest yet to date – over 5 and a half hours. It is focused on the Health applications breaking through from around the world, and is testimony to what had been promised, that the process of the KS workshops is now moving into a new paradigm, with the teaching emerging from forward thinkers around the world, all taking the ideas and principles of the teachings into developments of new technology. The first of these Knowledge Seekers was Alekz who took the principles into energy technology for cars and houses – in this workshop we had Knowledge Seekers focusing on the Health applications.

Hence we have Renan in the Philippines showing his Health pens, Emanuel in Malta delivering testimonials and case histories from use of his pain pads, and Mike Nashif in Texas developing his nano coated Infinity loops making water out of thin air, and healing people of cancer with a coke bottle looped around with nano coated copper wire and coated with composite Gans. These are all exciting developments and from the vantage point of March 2016, as of this writing, we have seen the evolution of these concepts into all sorts of interesting and effective developments...
