A Glimpse into the Past

As they delved deeper into their own history, Sian and Bob realized that their lives were interconnected with the illustrious figures who once inhabited the Kathmandu Valley. From Kings to artists, explorers, and even revolutionaries - their social circle spanning several centuries was nothing short of extraordinary.

With access to historical archives and long-forgotten diaries, Sian and Bob embarked on a relentless pursuit of knowledge, piecing together the fragments of their intertwined past. Their journey took them through hidden temples, royal palaces, and remote villages, offering a glimpse into a world unknown to the ordinary eye.

Uncovering the Long-Lost Tales

The stories that unfolded throughout their quest were surreal, often challenging the boundaries between myth and reality. From tales of forbidden love affairs to daring adventures in the Himalayan mountains, Sian and Bob's social history proved to be a treasure trove of enchanting narratives.

Among the remarkable characters they discovered was Surya, an enigmatic poet whose verses had the power to sway entire kingdoms. As the couple traced Surya's footsteps through the ancient alleys of Kathmandu, they found themselves immersed in a world of poetry, romance, and political intrigue.

Equally captivating was the story of Maya, a revolutionary artist who challenged the societal norms of her time. Through her paintings, Maya depicted the struggles and aspirations of a nation on the precipice of change, offering a glimpse into the collective consciousness of a generation.

A Legacy to Remember

As Sian and Bob uncovered one fascinating chapter after another, they realized the importance of preserving this incredible social history. Their journey not only shed light on their own ancestry but also brought to life a narrative that had long been forgotten, illuminating the journey of a nation and its people.

Through a meticulously curated exhibition at the heart of Kathmandu, Sian and Bob breathed life into the stories of the past. Their collection of artifacts, documents, and personal accounts offered a window into the lives of these extraordinary individuals, ensuring that their legacy would endure for generations to come.

(Kindle print replica edition) A remarkable thing happened in Nepal in April/May 2015. There were two major earthquakes and hundreds of aftershocks, with an official death toll of over 8000. But the biggest aftershocks may well be the changes that were already starting to manifest across the country. Suddenly hundreds of thousands of local people were mobilised not by greed, money, power or status, but by a need to pull together and rebuild their country. Many were city dwellers, who had rarely trodden beyond the ring road and were unused to the rough conditions of the rural areas. Others deserted Kathmandu for their ancestral villages in the devastated countryside. All were motivated to help the earthquake relief efforts in any way they could, not waiting for foreign aid to arrive. Having visited Nepal for several decades in the overland and trekking adventure business, we have made many friends and witnessed many significant events, but nothing like this. For us this was a unique but shattering experience. The quakes were 7.8 and 7.3, but the magnitude of the destruction is uncountable. The text is illustrated by 152 full colour photographs of the quake, the people, the efforts and some of this stunning country to inspire readers to visit Nepal as soon as they can! This is our short story: thirty days that shook us and millions of others. Note that this book is available in both colour and black & white paperback editions as well as Kindle. Proceeds from book sales will go towards our earthquake relief projects.
